The Beehive of Consciousness [videorecording] / Eneida Carbonell. Wheaton, IL : Theosophical Society in America, c2011. 1 videodisc (56 min.)
Consciousness is one of the most fundamental realities that Theosophy postulates as the basis of all macrocosmic and microcosmic processes. Modern scientists, specifically quantum physicists in their search into the workings of matter have found that matter follows the prompting of mind or consciousness. This program looks at some of the ideas shared by quantum physics and Theosophy, suggesting that consciousness is the primary reality.

   In 1517, Martin Luther, disgusted with the corruption then reigning in the Catholic Church, nailed on the door of the Castle Church in Wittenberg, Germany, 95 theses calling for a Reformation. During Pentecost week 2005, former Dominican priest Matthew Fox reenacted Luther’s call, posting at the same Castle Church a new set of 95 theses calling for a reawakening of the Christian spirit and a repudiation of the authoritarian, punitive tendencies that prevail in modern churches today.

The gods were everywhere in Ancient Egypt. Represented by statues, bas-reliefs, and funerary paintings, they even walked among the Egyptians in the person of Pharaoh, considered to be a living god. What better way to understand that distant culture than by becoming familiar with the people who served those gods? Using as his sources the Egyptian texts and the testimony of classical authors, Serge Sauneron illuminates the role of the priesthood in Ancient Egypt. He describes the ceremonies of daily worship and takes us deep into the sacred precincts of the temples. He re-creates the system of thought of one of the great civilizations of antiquity, addressing such topics as priestly functions, the world of the temples, holy festivals, tombs, and pyramids.
